LOYOLA MAC TONIGHT

After an absence of five and a half weeks from league action the Loyola Warriors Basketball team returns to Ottawa-St. Lawrence league play tonight with a home encounter scheduled against MacDonald College at 8:00 p.m.

The Warriors defeated the Clansmen 92-68 in the first game of the home and home league schedule on November 22 at MacDonald.

Loyola Coach Doug Daigneault used his bench strength to overcome a valiant MacDonald effort.

Tonight's contest will count in two leagues, The City Intercollegiate and Ottawa-St. Lawrence. Loyola leads both leagues with undefeated records and currently rank sixth in the country.

Daigneault is anticipating a close, hard fought game. "Their first five or six boys are a talented group and we will have to be at our best to win it."

John McAuliffe, 6'5" Center and Forward has been steadily improving and will be battling Mac's Bill Holt on the boards. McAuliffe picked up 27 points against McGill last week.

In a preliminary game at 6:00 p.m. in the Loyola Physical Education Centre Larry Rozzi's Loyola J.V. team will take on their MacDonald counterparts. Loyola J.V. hoopsters are also undefeated in league play.
